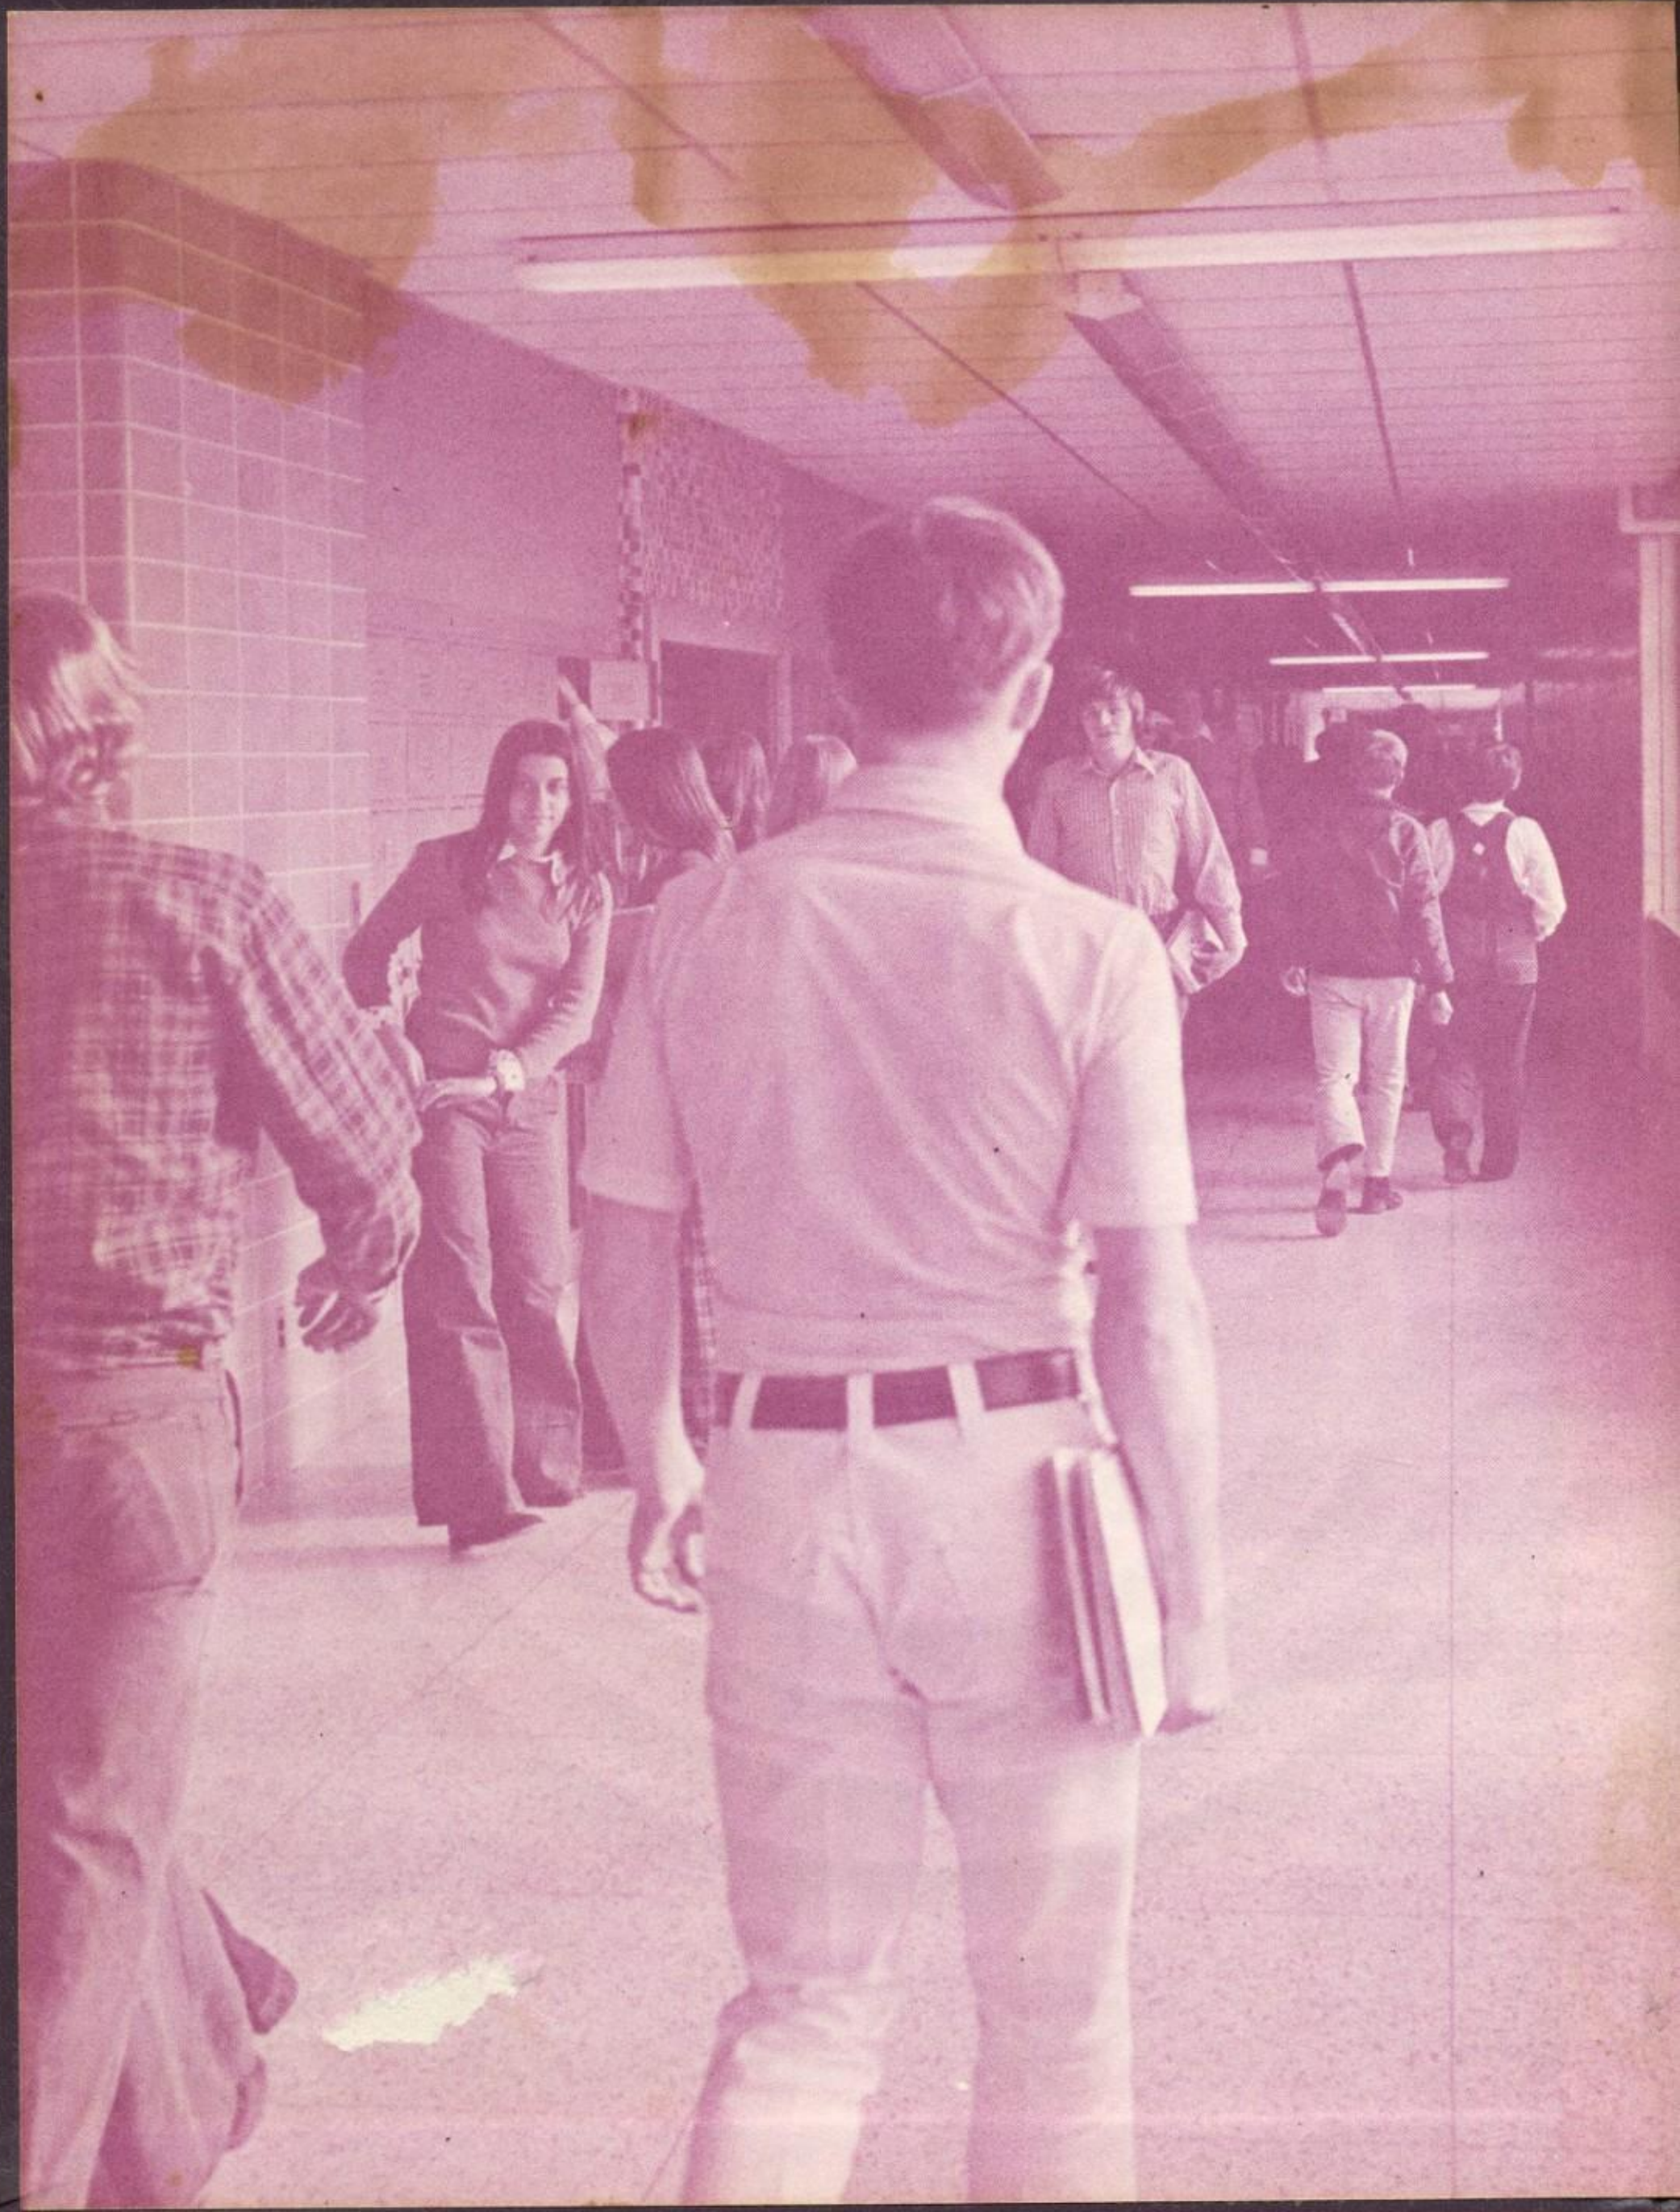
"This is US"



We're here and now,
Living today for what it will bring tomorrow.
We're different from others and
each one is unique in his own way.

We have had shining victories and stunning defeats. We have had great achievements and sorrow-filled disappointments.
They have all come and gone leaving
laughter and tears.

Was this year good or bad?
Can we really say?
One thing we can say for sure

This Is Us.

F.S.H.S. all-round best

The 1973-74 school year was a very good year at FSHS. We won the Sectional for the third time in a row, and the finest drill team in the state, and a most outstanding presentation of South Pacific. New faces-teachers as well as students, new fads-streaking, for instance, new clothing styles-heels as high as you can wear, and new programs such as Special Ed., and Comm. Arts. All of these new happening's took their place with the old, as our 73-74 year ceased to be.

Ebullient students during festivities

In the Frankfort Homecoming football game this year, Carmel defeated Frankfort 12-0. Coach Davis and the Hot Dogs strived for victory, but the Greyhounds seemed to smother all efforts.

JoLynne Ricker reigned over the homecoming celebrations after being crowned queen. The senior class float won first in the float contest with the theme "Our Dogs are better than your dogs." The rainy weather didn't dampen the spirit of the Hot Dog fans that had been generated by a bonfire the night before.

South Pacific keeps up tradition

This year's musical was no let down from years before. South Pacific took place on the Islands of Marie Louis and Bali Ha'i during WW II. A Rodgers and Hammerstein masterpiece, South Pacific had a charm and elegance that left everyone wanting more. Seniors, Don Felty and Sharlee Davis led the cast. Don as a French Planter, and Sharlee as Ensign Nellie Forbush, a nurse at the Army base on Marie Louis. Other mainparts were played by Barb Bright and Mike Strain. Barb portrayed Bloody Mary, a native from Bali Ha'i. Mike played the comedy roll of Luther Billis, a soldier stationed on Marie Louis.

3rd time's a charm for Hotdogs

With the motto, 3rd time's a charm. Frankfort once again triumphed in the Sectional. For their first victory, they beat Tri Central, 58-49. Next, they went on to win against Clinton Central, 56-53. And lastly they won with a close margin of 72-70 over Carroll.

This victory was no surprise after an exceptional season with a 16-4 record. All boys had an excellent season, which ended in a fine showing in the Regional, where they placed second.

New year, new area, new queen

The 1974 R.O.T.C. Ball opened with the crowning of Brenda Troxell as queen and the naming of Becky Gunyon as "Sweetheart". The R.O.T.C. Ball was a definite success, under the hard work of the sponsors and students. Also, this year the boys did all of the decorating and used their own rifle range instead of the cafeteria.

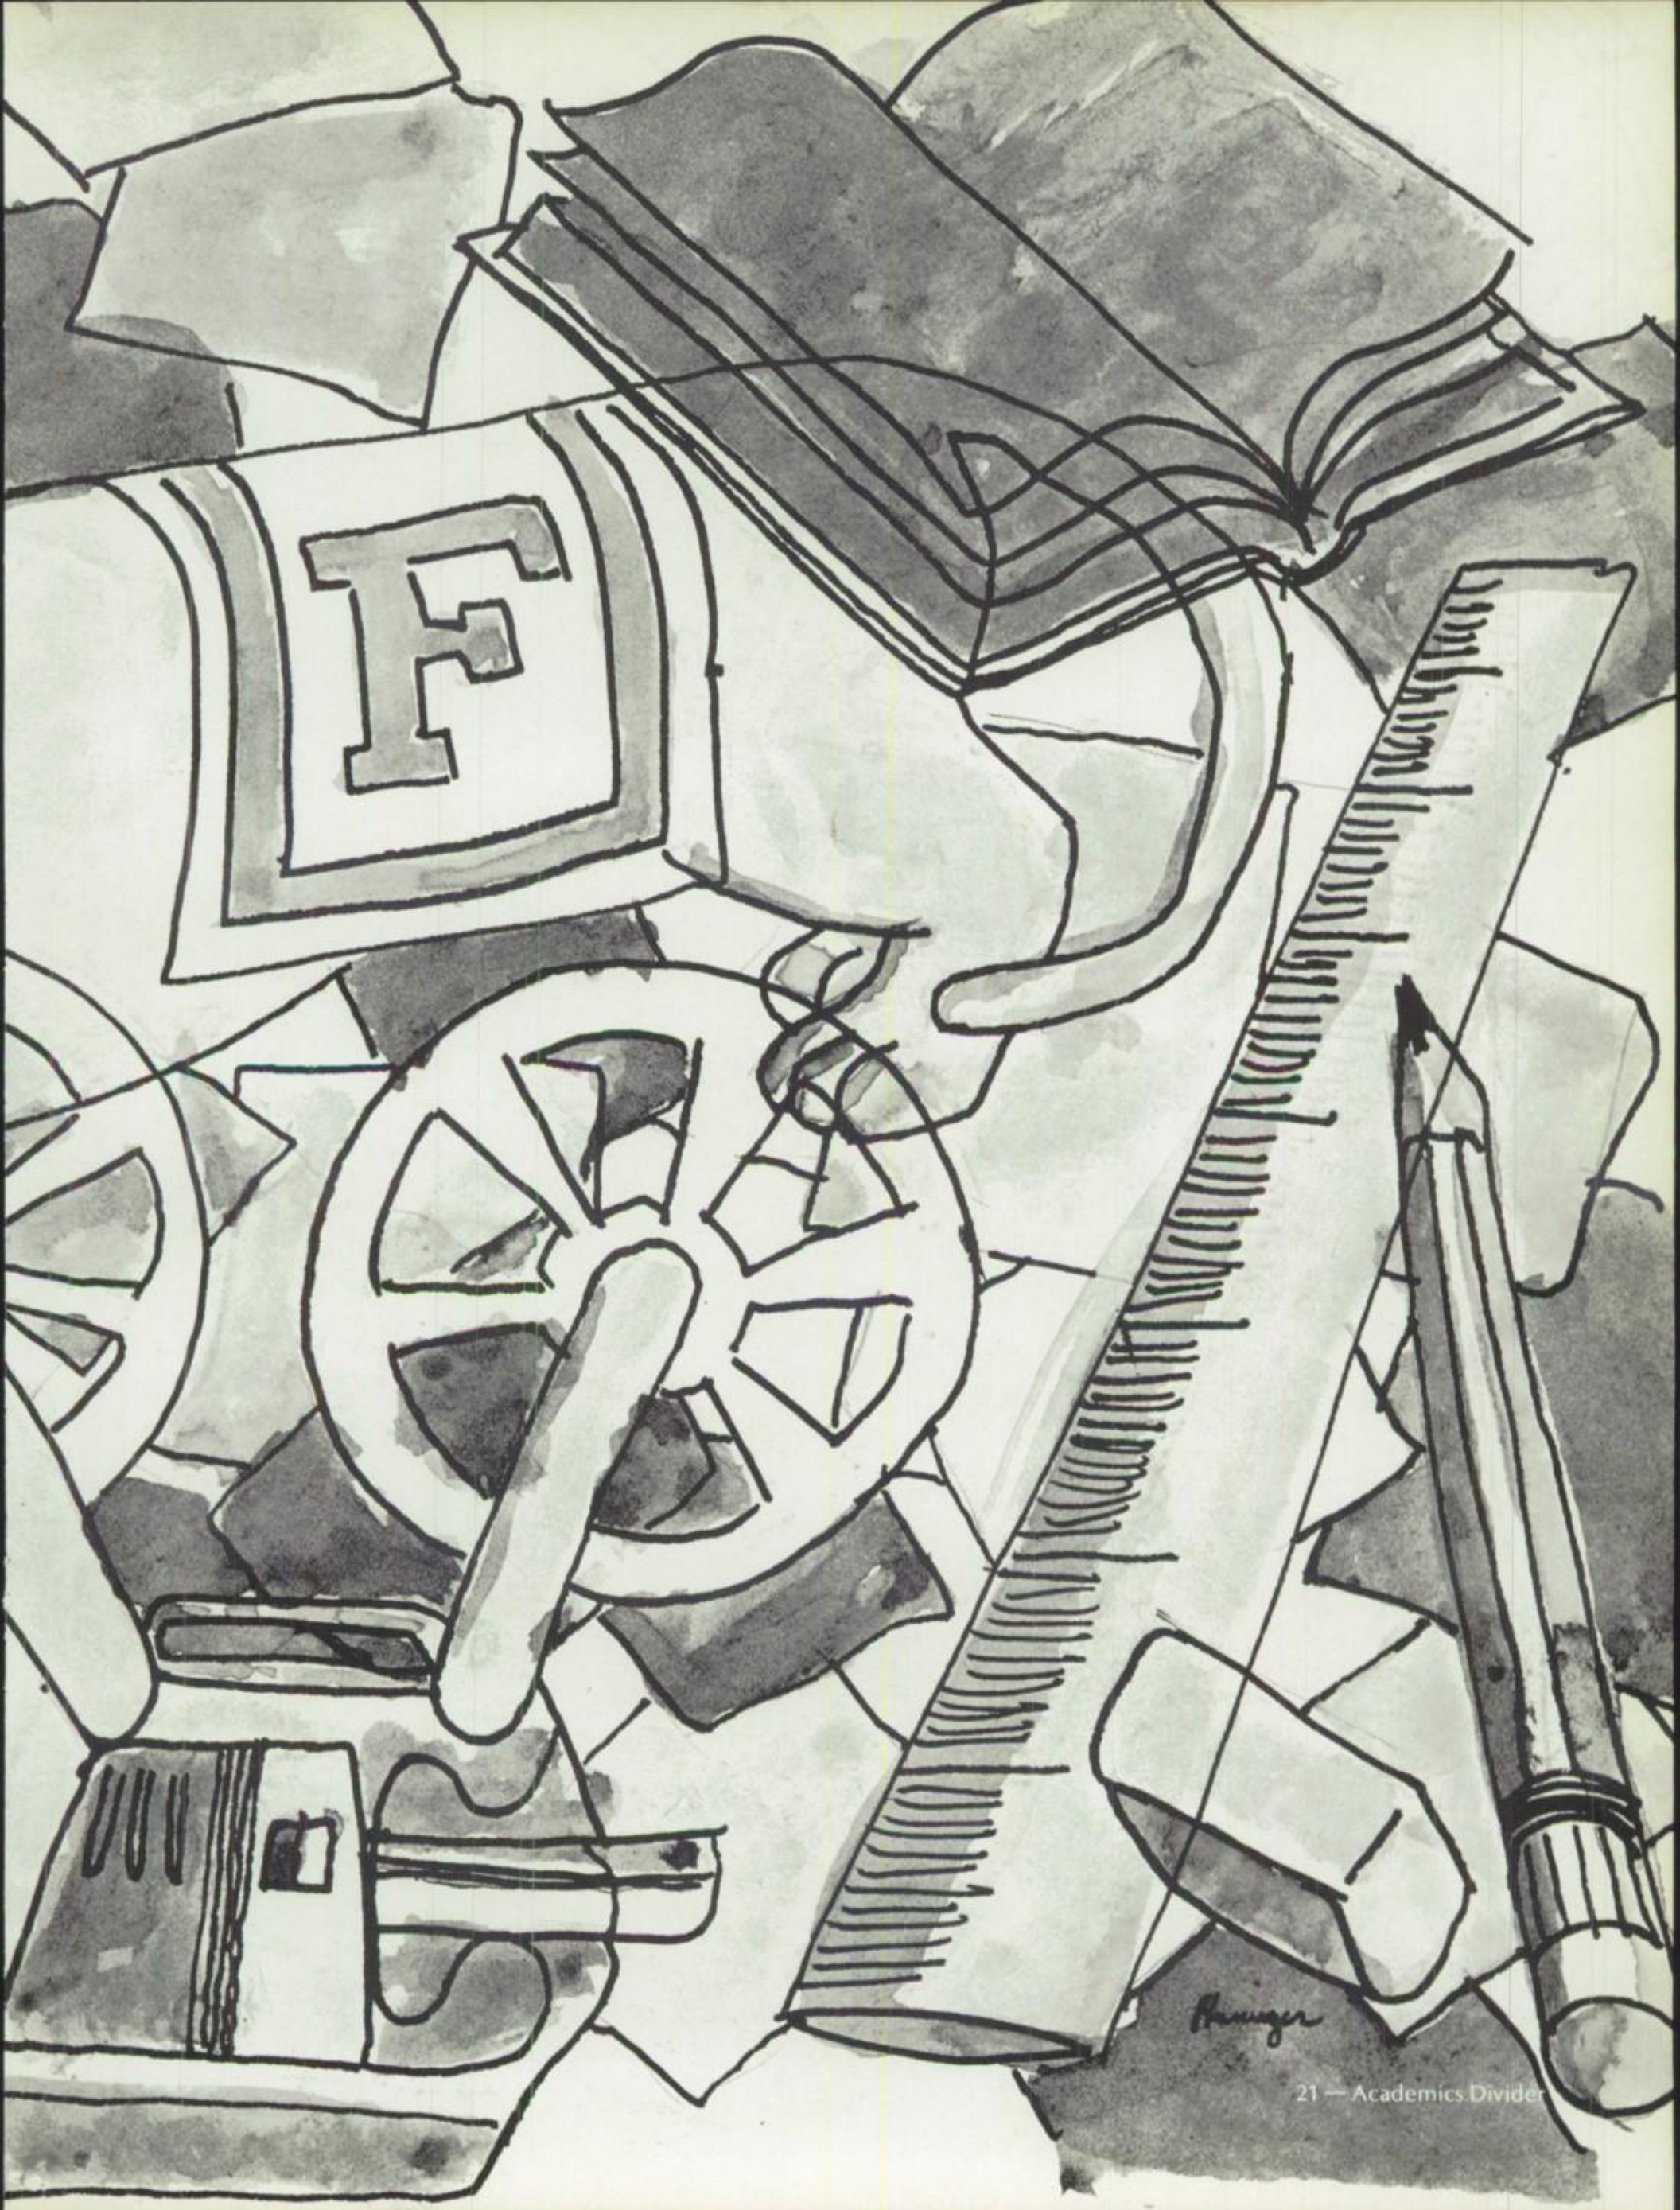
ACADEMICS



Activities in skills agility and games for 1973-74 PE

P.E. was sectioned into four divisions this year. All sophomores were required to take two semesters of beginning P.E., and advanced courses were offered to juniors and seniors. There were many different sports and activities, some of which were football, swimming, basketball, softball, etc.

Concern for today's problems

The Industrial Arts department had another busy year, but with a few new faces. With Mr. Catlin leaving to take another job, and Mr. Meyer leaving for Mallory's the department is now run by Mr. Hughes, Mr. Bennett, and Mr. McLaughlin.

A special emphasis was placed on conservation of energy, natural resources, and pollution control.

The Electronics classes worked with electrical circuits and radios, while the auto mechanics classes kept busy repairing automobiles.

All Home Ec. classes go co-ed

The Home Ec. Department offered ten co-educational classes in all areas. Beginning and advanced courses were offered in Clothing and Foods and Nutrition for anyone interested. Under child care there were courses in Child Development, Family Health, and Family management. As another first in this department, Orientation to the World of Work was required to those desiring to take part in the HERO program.

The 1973-74 Commercial Arts and Fine Arts classes filled the school year with numerous projects. Projects such as lettering, woodcuts, plastic sculpturing, leather works, sketches, and paintings were created by many talented students. Many excellent and outstanding art forms were used for display so everyone could see the many clever forms of Modern Art. Art classes are offered every year.

R.O.T.C. fills quota by admitting girls

This year, the R.O.T.C. program was perfected. For the first time since it's beginning, girls were allowed to join the program. The girls, along with the boys, learned basic drills, army tactics, first aid, and military functions. The boys had a fine drill team, coming in first at all meets. They were also rewarded for their fine efforts by the distinction of being first in the state. Another reward given them for their teaching efforts was the excellent quality of the girls drill team.

New rules come to library

Fines for overdue books were added to this year's library rules. Also, if the fine didn't provide adequate incentive, the student's report card was not issued at the end of the grading period until he had returned all borrowed materials. In addition to being useful for school work, the library provides books for those who also read for pleasure.

F.S.H.S. History has good year

The Social Studies Department offered seven courses this year. Sophomores could have an elective of World History, Juniors were required to take U.S. History, and Seniors were required to take a semester each of Government and Problems of Democrary. Current World Affairs and Introduction History of the Non-Western World were open to all classes, while a Social Science Seminar was open to Seniors.

Special Ed. new to high school

For the first time, Special Education classes were held at Senior High. The class had nine students and their day lasted from 8:30 to 2:30 every day. The students kept busy with many varied activities. Some of them worked in the school cafeteria, others took part in the Phys. Ed. program, and one girl took a Foods Lab class. As a class they played games and held discussion circles.

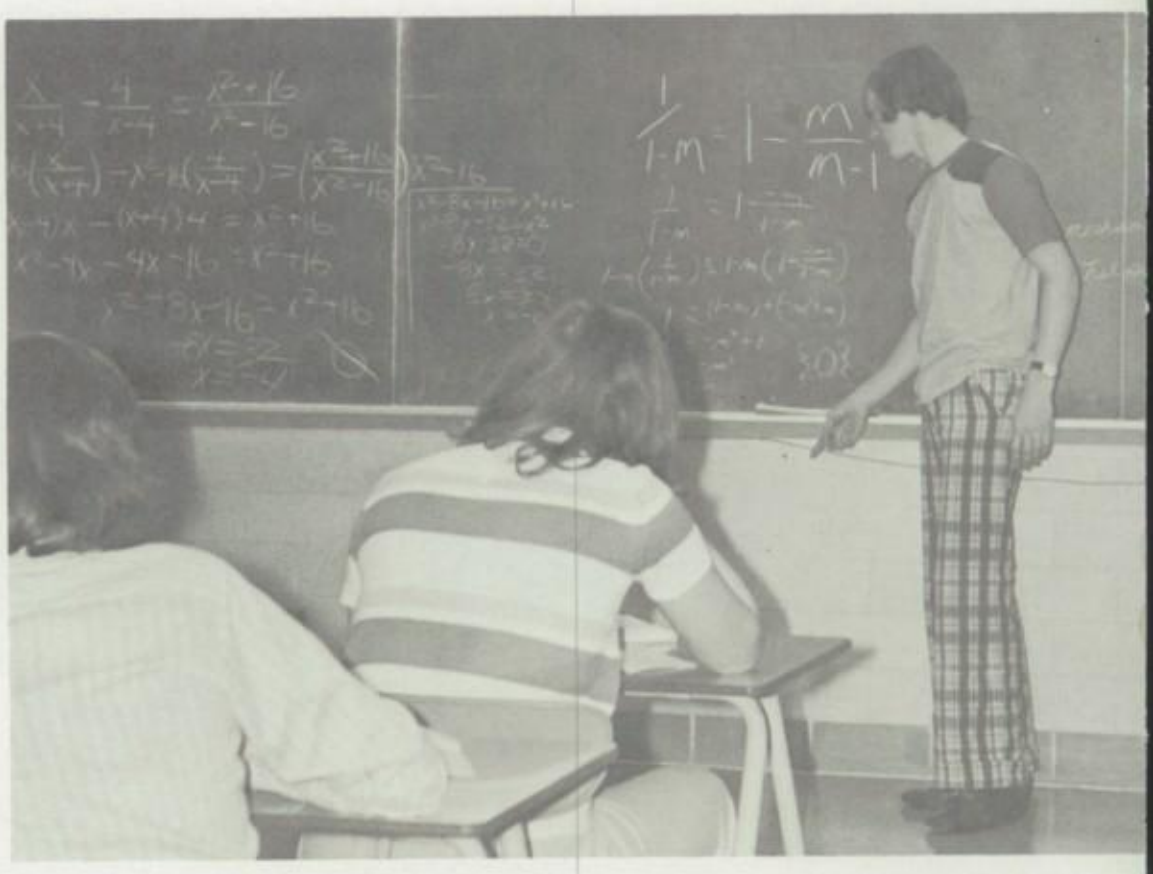
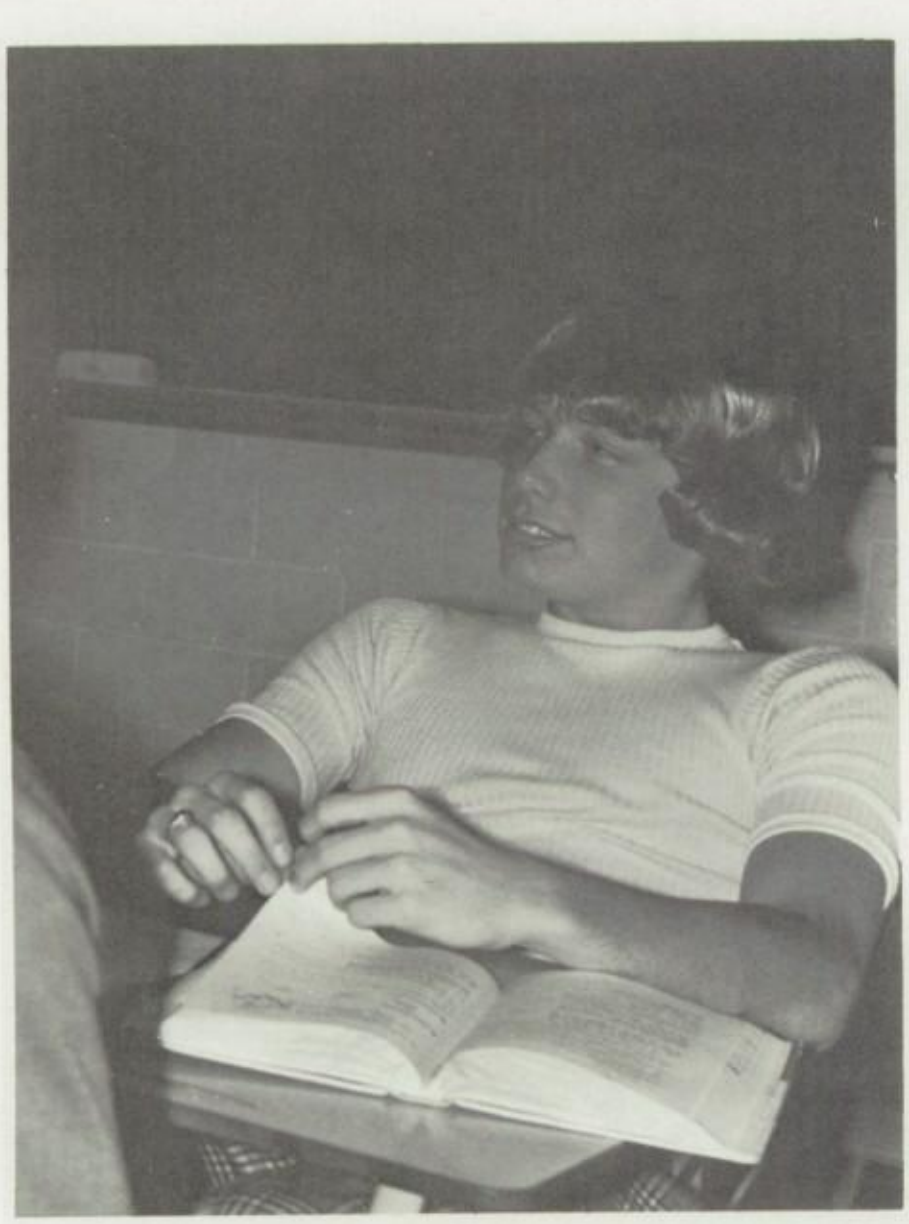
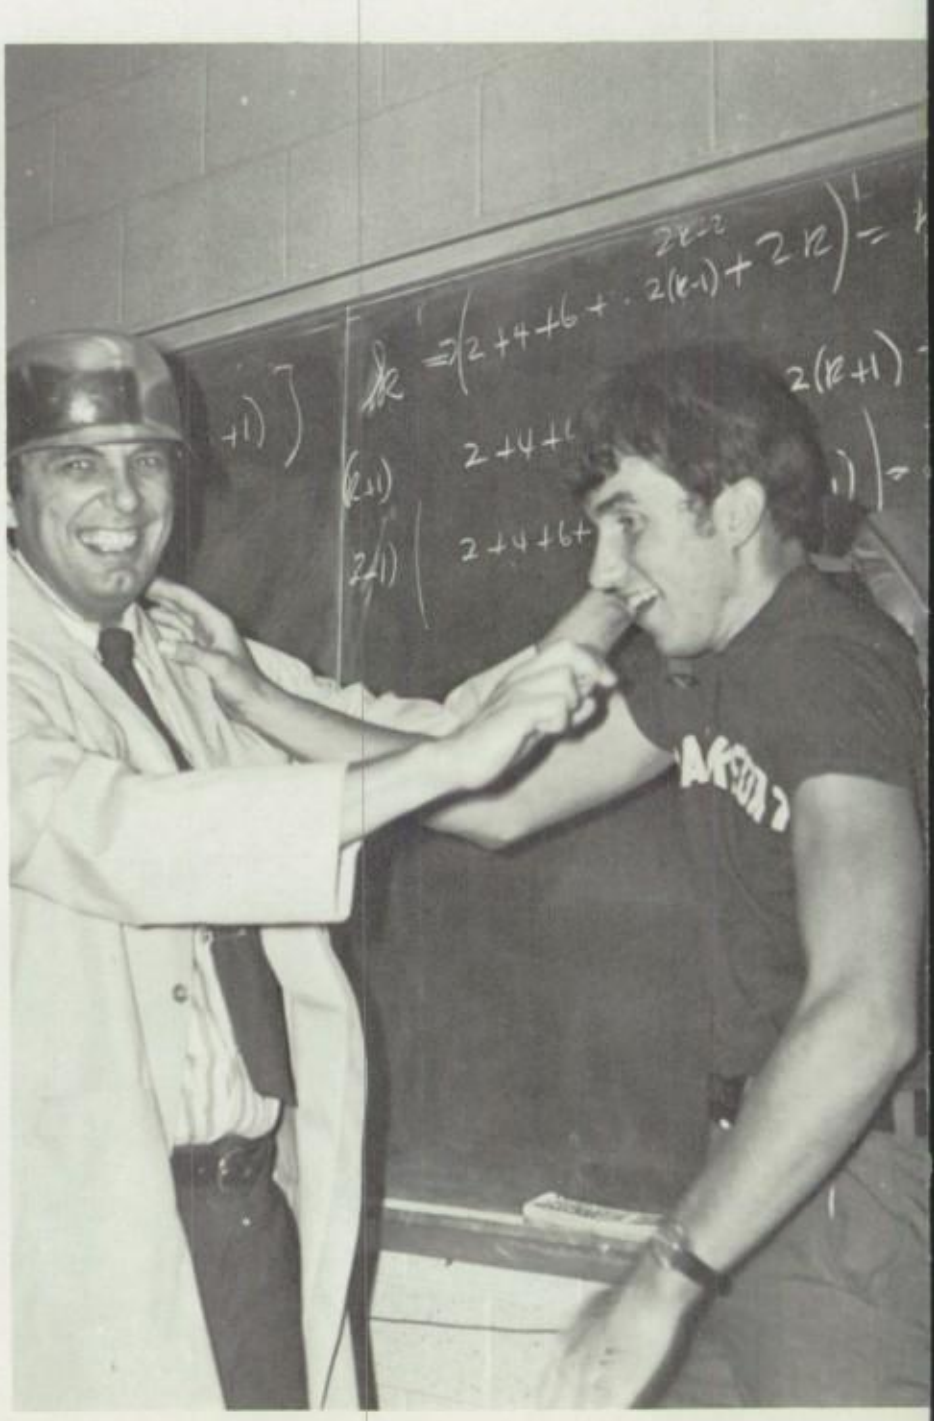
Math dept. keeps up fine reputation

The Math department offered five varied classes this year. Basic Math, designed for students needing to develop basic skills to prepare them for more advanced math courses. Algebra was divided into two classes, one class for beginning, one for advanced. Geometry was offered as a follow-up to Algebra, Junior Math for the wizards of our number system. The Department sponsored guidance films, and supervised Math-Science Club.



TOP: Gene Ferguson explains that x=y, y=x then they are equal. BELOW: Rob looks kinda interested, but we know one thing, he really isn't that interested. BOTTOM: Greg Finch and Schill have it out on hats off to Hotdogs day.





Science dept. improves with times

Experiments, valences, P.H. problems, and barometric readings are just a few of the things concurred by our science students. Chemistry was offered in two different forms for the first time, math oriented and non-math. The math oriented course is recommended to college bound students. Along with Chemistry, advanced Chemistry, Earth Science, Physics, and Advanced Physics; Narcotics and Life-Science was also offered. Students from all areas were allowed to Participate in some phase of the Science Program.

New faces come to music dept.

New leadership and ideas came to the entire Music department this year. Each of these classes had a new director. All of the classes made fine showings at district and state contests. The Concert Choir, for the first time, made a trip to Lafayette to be filmed for a Christmas program. Another new addition was a Pop Concert given by the Orchestra and Swing Choir. Classes in Music Appreciation were also offered again this year.

Communicative arts abolish English

The former English Department among other changes, revised the name to Communicative Arts, a name much more suited to the program. One of the changes included admitting Speech, Stagecraft, and Drama into the department. The basic difference was the offering of 30 varied one-semester courses. The students had their choice of classes according to their interests and educational needs. All courses are non-graded which means that anyone can take any class regardless of grade level.

BOTTOM: Debbie Denman giving her speech.

Equipment improves language lab

Many new forms of teaching made learning foreign languages a new and more interesting experience this year. All new books were used; and along with them came new tapes. Latin took a downfall as only one class could be offered. French students are offered three years and Spanish offers four years.

Radio-TV helpful to everyone

This year's Radio-TV classes were guided through a wide range of activities by Mr. Larry Franks.

The studies ranged from the history of broadcasting, the rules and regulations that have made it what it is today to the taping of football and basketball games. Also, advertising, programming, and producing their own shows are required.

The morning radio show provides a relaxing atmosphere for the students waiting to begin their regular school schedule.

New tactics and new faces bring changes

This year the C.O.E. participants attended both state and regional contests. Some of the regular courses offered again were Typing, Business Math, Shorthand, Consumer Economics, Office Practice and Cooperative Office Education. Most of these career-oriented classes were offered with no previous training in the field of business. Each year as job opportunities in business grow, so does the business program to accomodate the demand.

C.C. Team in Regional for 6th straight year

The F.S.H.S. Cross Country team came through once again proving to be more than a dedicated team by bringing Frankfort High a fine season. Under the direction of Coach Gary Kersey, the team placed 3rd in the sectional meet and 14th in the Laporte regional. This year Coach Kersey lettered seven men, the most since becoming Head Coach in 1972. Junior Joe Catron and Freshman Neil Yates showed strong competitive ability and the outlook for next year is bright.

Injuries and rebuilding present problems

The Frankfort Hot Dogs finished the 1973 football season with a disappointing one win and eight losses. Due to injuries only two of the seven returning lettermen played every game. New Head Coach Wayne Davis and his team had several bright spots one of which was their victory over Clinton Central's Bulldogs. Many hard hours were put in by Assistant Coaches Jeff Rempala, Art Page, and Bill Cripe to prepare the Dogs for the oncoming season. Making the all Conference 1st Team Defense were Defensive Back Jay Huddleston and Middleguard Joe Smith. As a motto for next year's team, let us use the words of Coach Davis; "We have learned Humility, now let us earn Respectability".

Tennis team finishes with 5-4 record

Under new head coach Mike Clark the tennis team finished with a winning season at 5 wins and 4 losses. Outstanding performances were turned in by seniors Phil Tudor and Steve Glover who kept the team going throughout the season. Spirits were lifted as the squad won it's last four games, including big wins over arch rivals Kokomo and Noblesville. The outlook for next year is good with wins turned in by juniors John Rose, Russell Gearheart, Mark Sawicki, Kevin Lungren, also Sophomores Mike Schilling, Steve Snodgrass, Don Woods, and Rick Wainscott. Senior players Bill White and Matt Ponton both turned in fine performances with both winning several single matches.

Girls prove to be excellent sportsmen

This was the first time ever for a girls golf team at F.S.H.S. The golf team prospered under the watchful eye of Mrs. Kirkpatrick, whose hope for next year is that there will be more girls out. The volleyball team, under the leadership of Miss Ratliff, also had a relatively good season. Congratulations to the girls for their season.

Another outstanding year for GAA

The GAA basketball, swimming, track and tennis teams this year under coaches Ratliff, Rosenbaum, and Montgomery respectively had another outstanding year.

The girls developed composure and teamwork when the going got tough and seemed to keep up that stamina throughout the season.

Hot Dogs win sectional for 3rd straight year; finish season at 19 and 6

The 1973-74 Hot Dog basketball team under head coach John Milholland finished the season by winning the Sectional for the 3rd straight year, and carrying 8th ranked Lebanon into the championship game of the Regional.

Led throughout the season by Mike Sharp, David Moore, Andy Scott, Jay Eiche and All-State candidate Ron Best the Hot Dogs had many thrilling victories. The team managed to knock off Lebanon in the early part of the season 65-61. Lebanon was ranked 4th in the state at the time.

Fine performances were turned in by all players for a combined record of 19 wins to 6 loses. Under assistant coach Larry Adamson the B-team finished at 16 and 2.

Next year looks good with Jay Eiche and Andy Scott returning from the varsity squad.

Desire and hard work send 3 to state

The 1973-74 Wrestling team bowed out of the season with honor by sending three men to compete in state wrestling competition.

Led throughout the year by Joe Smith, Bobby Smith and Vance Ferguson who picked up big wins in season competition, Frankfort finished with a winning season.

Excellent performances were turned in by all wrestlers with stunning victories at the last moment.

The line up for next year looks good with several sophomore and junior wrestling members.

Swimmers 9th in state meet — best finish ever

This year the Swimming Team under new head coach Will Franks finished out the season with its best performance ever by placing 9th in state competition.

Led by John Kay, Nelson Lunsford, Ray Loshl, Pat Coulter and Kevin Schied who competed in the state meet, the team finished very respectably with several other larger schools participating.

Hard work and spirit seemed to be the combination this year for a winning season.

Track Team lacked depth, but still finished strong

Frankfort's track team completed this years season with a respectable record. The strong point of the team was in the running events, but lack of personnel hurt them in field events.

With several underclassmen returning for next years season the outlook is promising.

Little experience but lots of determination

This years baseball team with only one senior, lacked experience, but still represented Frankfort High well.

The Dogs were constantly fighting the weather, but when a game was played the team was in it all the way. Congratulations to this years baseball team on a fine season.

Golfers finish at 9 and 5

The F.S.H.S. golf team under head coach Larry Adamson had another fine season, compiling a 9 and 5 record.

In the annual conference match, Frankfort placed 5th out of 61 teams competing, and placed senior golfer Dave Moore on the all conference squad.

The only other senior member of this years team was Perry Norris. He contributed a great deal to the team by placing first in many season matches.

Bullets win intramural crown

The intramural basketball teams this year under the directions of Ron Shepherd and Gary Craig finished with professional results. The teams were led throughout the season by Steve Galvin and his 76'ers who were undefeated until the playoffs. Perry Norris and his strong Bullet team came on strong in the end to take the championship by defeating the 76'ers and the hard fighting Royals. The annual All-Star game featuring the outstanding players of both divisions was won by the West. Let's again give our thanks to Ron Shepherd and Gary Craig for a job well done.

A tribute to Earl Applegate M.D.

The tireless effort of Dr. Earl Applegate in administering medical attention to Frankfort High School athletes has been an invaluable service since 1949.

Dr. Applegate is a graduate of Frankfort High School in the class of "34". While pursuing his A.B. and M.D. degrees at Indiana University, he won five letters in track and cross country. Since 1949 he has either been on the scene or available to give his attention to Hot Dog athletes who need his services.

Dr. Earl Applegate, we the athletes and coaches of Frankfort High School, thank-you.

Council's leadership provides an interesting year

Student Council passed the 73-74 school year with many new activities added to the annual ones. The Council sponsored six convocations, and had charge of the homecoming parade, queen courts, and student activities. Career Day, and 1950's Day were conceived and carried out by the Student Council, as Prefect Council organized and assisted at open house. Clinton Prairies Student Council Officers visited FHS, and FHS Officers returned the visit to Clinton Prairie in exchange of ideas and to observe the activities and success of their Student Council. All in all FHS Student Council had an energetic and successful year.

Sunshine activities bring sunshine to FSHS

Sunshine girls this year had a party to get acquainted. The old and new members attended, and they played games and had a pickle eating contest, while Sherel See placed first and Ann Friend placed second.

Seven girls attended the Annual Sunshine District Convention this year.

There is 78 Active members. They were initiated in November. The officers are President, Carol Sutton; Vice-President, Debbie Frazier; Treasurer, Geretta Criswell; Recording Secretary, Marsha Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Lorraine Arnold.

Some of their money making projects are Candy Sales and Bake Sales. Some of the candy money goes to the Riley Childrens' Fund. They also sold carnations on Valentines Day. They went to Logansport to the State Hospital for their annual Christmas party. They took food and passed out gifts that were donated by Clinton County.

They made tray-favors for Nursing homes and hospitals. Sunshine also had a Daddy Date Night where the girls and their dads had a carry in dinner. Mayor Kays talked and the Swing Choir sang.

Junior and Senior girls chose Ideal Ladies at the beginning of the year, they do favors for them and send them gifts. They select them in the Fall and in the Spring and they have a tea. The secret Sunshine girl is then revealed. Also held is a Mother and Daughter Banquet.

FSHS profits from Hi-Y activities

Hi-Y had a busy year under the supervision of advisor Mr. Smith and President Mark Burns. The appetites of the football fans were satisfied by the Hi-Y concession stand, and the basketball fans were ushered to seats by energetic members. Hi-Y also faced the weather head on and parked cars at the Lebanon game. Hi-Y also went half on the purchase of a popcorn machine. Hi-Y worked on Honey Sunday selling Honey, and contributed $50.00 to the Christmas Seal Fund. The club attended church once a month, and had charge of the school sign and keeping it up to date. Gym parties were sponsored by Hi-Y, where the gym, pool, and matts were open for evening use.

Goal set as higher standard of athletics

Any boy who has won a varsity letter is eligible for membership in F-Club. F-Clubs purpose is to promote a higher standard of athletics in high school.

At meetings this year, speakers were invited for instructions and entertainment. A man from the Phys. Ed department at Purdue spoke on Purdue Athletics and recruiting athletes.

Mr. Adamson sponsored F-Club this year. Officers were Jay Huddleston, V.P., Steve Galvin, Sec., Joe Catron, Treas., Perry Norris, Sgt. Arms, and Shawn Gregoire, Pres.

Key Club a worthy organization

Key Club had a productive year under the leadership of President, Dave Moore. Other officers were: John Irwin, Vice-President, Jay Huddleston, Secretary, Perry Norris, Treasurer and Vince Riley, Lt. Governor.

Key Club participated in a wide variety of activities. These included the selling of popcorn for profit, distributing circulars to local businesses and collecting for the Heart Fund. They also helped to set up and take down the blood banks, and another contribution was to the Opportunity Center, by selling honey on "Honey Sunday." Again, as in the past, Key Club helped the Kiwanis, by selling tickets to the pancake supper. All in all, Key Club proved to be a very fine and worthy organization.

Z Club's concern for others benefit many

Z Club lead by President Brenda Troxell performed many service projects that benefited the high school and the community. Their monthly county home parties raised the spirits of all who participated. They also cleaned the school grounds several times during the year. Christmas was the busiest time of the year with the members helping Santa, ringing the Salvation Army bell, and answering Santa's letters. Z Clubbers marched for the March of Dimes, sold honey, and collected for the Heart Fund. Once again Z Club members demonstrated their concern for humanity by contributing their time and skills to help others.

Frankfort Guard proves valuable

Frankfort Guard is the "Backbone of the Swimming Organization." It assists with every aquatic program offered in the Frankfort Pool. Frankfort Guard is made up of students from Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. During the year boys and girls have the opportunity to develop and practice leadership while in the process of teaching swimming. Each member receives training on how to teach all swimming strokes in the free Frankfort Elementary Swimming Program. After they complete this program they represent the high school as qualified Volunteer Swim Instructors. The value of the Guard program to the community cannot be measured.

Working together is a big part of GAA

G.A.A. (Girls Athletic Association) spread out with six sports, Golf, volleyball, basketball, swimming, track, and tennis. They planned bake sales, carwashes, an Aquanette Show, a banquet in May for all of the G.A.A. girls and a Spring Trip to Brown County State Park. Their advisers, coach, and friends were Miss Velda Ratliff, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Montgomery, and Mrs. Baker.

Future Homemakers of America doing their thing, their own way!

Future Homemakers of Tomorrow is a very active organization. They have for the last six years sponsored an Indian child, named Galin Salinas.

F.H.A. also sponsors a dance for the senior high school each year. At Christmas time they sell candles to raise money for Galin Salinas.

During their meetings business men and women talk to the members of F.H.A. about home economics areas in which F.H.A. members are interested in.

The Betty Crocker Award is open to any senior girl. The award is sponsored by General Mills Inc. The local winner of this award was Miss Marquita Sanders. Having won this award locally Miss Sanders is eligible for state and national competition for a scholarship.

The motto of Future Homemakers is "Toward New Horizons." Which expresses the purpose of the organization learning to live better today in order that our lives and those of our families may be better for tomorrow.

FBLA has a very productive year

FBLA this year was quite active. A wire fence at the Opportunity Center was removed to improve their playground. Members worked two evenings after school on the project. A Fall dance was sponsored by FBLA with music by "Sergeant Meat" after homecoming. A Christmas Dinner and caroling party was held for members at the Henderson's. A skating Party at the Hoosierland Roller Rink, and later, a Pizza Party.

The 41 members are advised by Mrs. Henderson and their president is Connie Stewart. Vice president Marietta Shaw, and Secretary-Treasurer Linda Ruch assisted in running the club.

OEA has an active year

Membership in OEA is for juniors that are interested in being on the C.O.E. program and for seniors that are currently enrolled in the program. Frankfort's OEA raised $1000.00 to pay for their expenses in going to the National contests in Minneapolis, Minnesota in April.

In February they had a pitch in dinner for sophomores that are interested in being members next year. Also, in February OEA members participated in the regional contests at Pendleton Heights High School. Teresa Camp placed 1st in Accounting II, Ramona Schimmel placed 1st in Typing II, Rhonda Catron placed 2nd in Information Communications, Cindy Puttman placed 3rd in Accounting I, and Nancy Kingery placed 6th in Job Application.

Students learn foreign languages and customs

The Foreign Language Department offers three years of French, four years of Spanish and advanced Latin. The Latin class stresses reading and English derivatives from Latin to help students build their English vocabulary. The Spanish and French classes are structured to give students a reading knowledge of the language and to give them a chance to develop some facility in conversation. Students also get a chance to learn about a culture other than their own.

Activities outside class may include trips to Art museums, and to foreign language field days, Class activities include preparing skits for Spanish Club. This year a Spanish dinner is being planned for the fourth year class.

The field of teaching explored by FTA

The FTA Club this year was active in not only helping elementary and junior high students throughout Frankfort, but were also active with tours and a fund raising program.

A tour to Ball State proved interesting to FTA members. Students explored the campus and the various classrooms and dormitories. The tour also included a visit to the Grissom elementary school. It was an open concept school where students learned at all ages together in one room.

A chili supper was held in late fall to raise money for various tours and student teaching projects.

Diligent labor proves rewarding

The 1974 Cauldron Staff, through hard-work and strategic struggle completed their goal — the 1973-74 Yearbook! Under the new leadership of "Our Beloved Father," ((Reece Heninger) the staff experienced victories, small defeats and a rewarding feeling when the book was finished. National honor: society of scholars

The National Honor Society consisted of 22 members this year, and was kept in order by Donna Lipp, President and her officers. Pam Mitchell served as vice president of the club, JoLynn Ricker served as treasurer, Dave Moore as secretary, Jay Huddleston as Parliamentarian and Mr. Shepard served as sponsor. The National Honor Society had several fund raising activities to try to earn money for a field trip.

To be eligible for membership into the club, one must be a senior or a second semester junior and have a 3.0 (B) accumulative point grade index. Students scholastically eligible are then voted on by all teachers. These votes are added to numbers corresponding to class rank. These totals must be under 50 for students to be admitted into the Society.

The talented faces of our club Drama Club

The Drama Club was organized to stimulate interest in the study of Dramatics, and theatre arts. This organization assists in the production of school plays, pep skits, and variety shows. Membership is acquired by an audition before the club in the fall of each year. Perspective members may either answer a set of questions about the theatre or perform some way, depending upon what kind of background they have.

The Drama Club has visited several stage performances such as Dial "M" for Murder, at the Civic Theatre in Indianapolis and "Community of Two" at Cloues Hall also in Indianapolis. The Seniors in Drama Club gave a performance of "Godspell" on May 10th. They directed their own sets, and also made their own costumes.

Pep Club shows an enthusiastic loyalty

The 1973-74 Pep Club was lead through the invigorating year by Pres. Lorraine Arnold. Committees were assigned to make posters and show their concern, interest, and support for each sport. The members' school spirit and vivace enthusiasm helped the Hotdogs have a rewarding and successful year.

Pep Club's new sponsor, Mrs. Milholland, molded the club into a unified, well-organized group which was the best one yet.

Sword and Shield keeps activities going

The Sword and Shield Club consists of those ROTC cadets excelling in leadership, academics, and participation in rifle team, drill team or color guard. Sword and Shield sponsored many of this year's major ROTC activities such as the Seventh Annual ROTC Ball and the Fourth Annual Frankfort Invitational Drill Meet. The club also ran a concession stand during the basketball season which provided funds for transportation to and from the Western Kentucky University Drill Meet. Colonel Russel G. Jones is this year's sponsor.

Long hours and hard work pay off in victories

The 1974 Drill Team competed in many meets this year, and fared quite well. Not only did they compete in high school meets, but also against colleges and universities. At the Indianapolis meet, A squad placed first, and B squad placed second. Purdue sponsored a large meet and invited 20 high schools and military schools from 4 states, and in individual competition, Frankfort captured the first 3 places, and first place in platoon and squad drill. In a second college meet at Purdue, Frankfort placed third. A meet in Fort Wayne brought in another first for the varsity to prove our drill teams fine ability.

Frankfort Puppettes march on

The Puppettes were poised and pretty this year as they performed at football and basketball games. Led by their co-captains, Lisa Spencer and Sherrie Thompson, the twenty-eight girls were instructed by Ms. Sally Miller and sponsored by Mr. Eric Wainscott.

The Puppettes marched in the Christmas parade. The outgoing seniors danced to Varsity Drag at the basketball homecoming game. In the 73-74 Big Broadcast the girls danced for their last time of the year to "MacArthur Park."

Thirteen or fourteen new members are chosen each year from the sophomore class, after auditions at the end of the school year. These new members then train with the older girls for their performances.

Intellectualism stressed by their enthusiasm for success

Math Science club this year sponsored a Nuclear Energy convocation for the students. They talked about different kinds of energy. They also sponsored a Science Fair for the six graders. The students brought exhibits and were judged on them. Doctor Craig came from Ball State to give a lecture to the Math Science members.

To be a member of Math Science you must have had two years of a math or science class.

Mr. Schilling is the sponsor.

Meritorious Blue and White Band represent our school well

The blue and white band had another successful year under the new direction of Eric Wainscott. This year the band participated in the Veteran's Day Parade, the Christmas parade and also the football Homecoming Parade. Other activities performed included pregame and half time show at each football game, and at pep sessions, and also in the Spring Concert. The band, as usual, sponsored the Big Broadcast, "Now and Then", and portrayed it in a professional manner. Another major event was the district and state Solo-ensemble contests in which the band received numerous honors.

Practice makes perfect

A new face was added to the Frankfort Senior High Orchestra this year. Miss Sharry Miller completed her first year as conductor here. Along with concerts and playing for the fall musical a new activity was added to their list of projects. It was a Pop Concert given along with the Jr. High Orchestra, Swing Choir, and Freshman Choir. The admission was free and the public was invited. As in years past, the orchestra sent ensembles and solos to the district and state contests. They also played in the Fall Musical and performed at commencements for graduation exercises. Members of the activities, church functions and small groups for the community. They also made their annual spring tour of the grade schools, giving a concert at each one.

Swing Choir swings on

The FSHS Swing Choir had its busiest year ever, presenting more than thirty performances throughout the community. In October, they performed at the Fall Concert, but their busiest month was December, with performances almost every day.

In February, the FSHS Swing Choir was one of twenty-five such groups to participate in group competition of the state Swing Choir contest. Frankfort was one of very few groups to receive a "superior" rating, and the group is proud of a large plaque which now hangs in the Choir room in recognition of their performance.

Later in February, Swing Choir appeared in the Orchestra Pop Concert and in March in the "Big Broadcast." Performances in April and May were climaxed by a performance on the Spring Concert. The biggest honor of the year came when the Swing Choir was invited to perform for the I.U. Swing Choir Clinic at Bloomington in July.

This year started with new direction from Mr. Hill for the choirs. First experiences for the Concert Choir coincided with Mr. Hill's first year of ten I.U. They sponsored a pep session for football, portraying a "game" while half the choir sung. Then they had a Christmas pageant singing many traditional carols. The spring was quite busy, with the choir sponsoring an Area Choral Festival. Other activities included? singing on a Lafayette TV station and performing throughout the year, such as the Thanksgiving program. All in all the year was quite a success for the Concert Choir.

Students learn while helping in offices

The students of FSHS worked in the various offices through the 1973-74 school year. They did such things as running errands and typing tests for teachers. Girls learned about nursing by helping in the nurses office. Both boys and girls worked in the main office and in the counselors offices. They helped the secretaries and counselors by collecting attendance slips, answering the telephone and delivering guidance passes. Through participation in office work they gained valuable working experience.

'... Maybe,' I figured, 'maybe it's all men and all women we love; maybe that's the Holy Spirit — the Human Spirit ... maybe all men got one big soul everybody's a part of.'

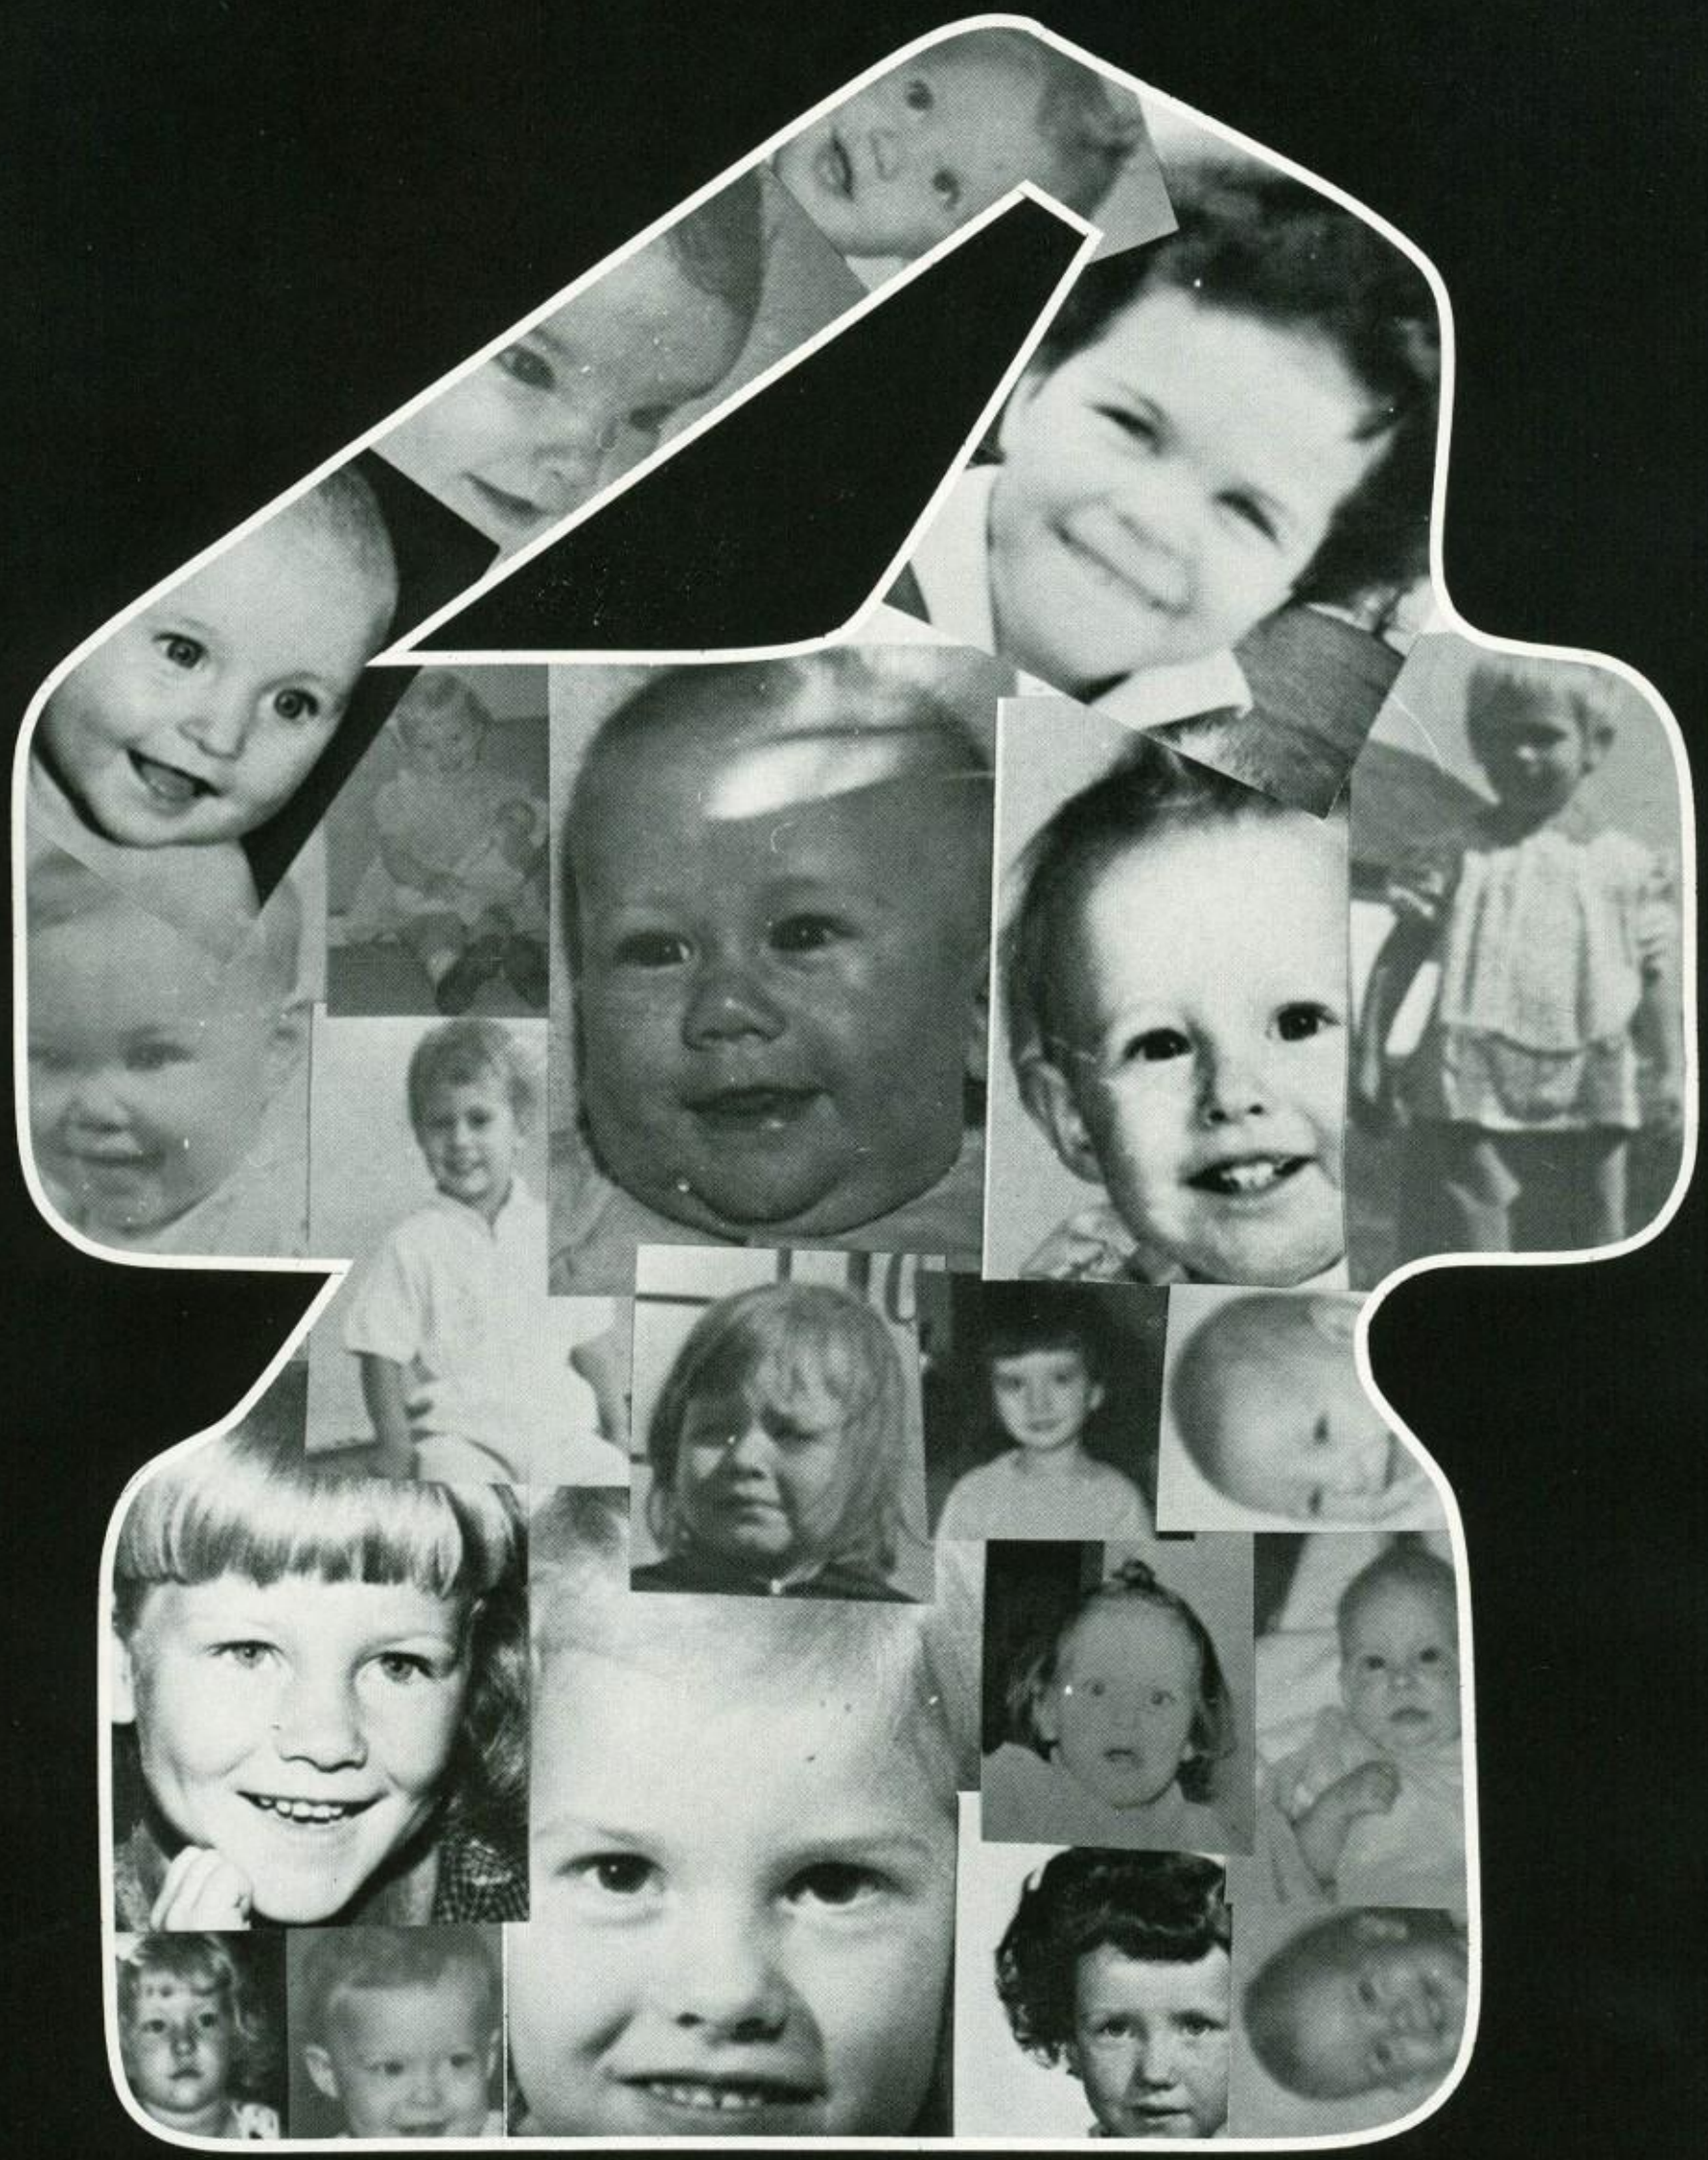
PERSONALITIES



Seniors of 74 left behind happy memories

The Seniors were an enthusiastic, studious, prodigious class. They provided a steadfast, unique quality in all school activities.

As the year progressed, Seniors became aware of the responsibilities laid upon their shoulders and quickened. their stride to keep up the pace.

When the year came to a close, the evocative spirit dwelt heavily on the graduating class. Though looking ahead was a venturous, glorious, undertaking — looking back dimmed the splendor.

Simon says: Juniors take a big step up

The Junior class having completed their transition, settled into an intermediate position for the ensueing year. Their contributions to the life of the school enlightened the general atmosphere. They participated in various school sponsored activities, creating a vigorous innovation. The class of "75" was directed by Mark Sawicki, President, John Rose, Vice-President, Ria Albano, Secretary, and Becky Russel, treasurer. Together, they united to conceive an awakening aura that enveloped all.

Sophomores brought vigor and vitality

The class of "76" adjusted quite easily to high school life. Their mounting confidence quelled the customary frustrations and inhibitions, traditional of underclassmen. They manifested individualism in every segment of their school careers. The Sophomores took a prominent step in academic and scholastic achievements; they also added an exuberant liveliness to many extracurricular activities. The officers of the Sophomore class are: President Tom Bailey, Vice President Susie Carpenter, Secretary Monica Ridenour, and Treasurer Cathy Kays.

School Board seeks best solutions

The 1973-74 School Board was confronted with numerous inconsistent circumstances which demanded the competent intelligence of a united association. Many innovations and puzzling problems were the topics discussed at the meetings. They measured each issue with a confident, reassuring approach, determining the best possible solution.

Superintendent Moore skillfully manuvered the Frankfort Community Schools in another successful year.

We're here and now.
Living today for what it will bring tomorrow.
We're different from others and
each one is unique in his own way.

We have had shining victories and stunning defeats. We have had great achievements and sorrow-filled disappointments.
They have all come and gone leaving
laughter and tears.

Was this year good or bad?
Can we really say?
One thing we can say for sure

This Is Us.
